I, KARL AUERBACH, hereby declare:

1. I am the Petitioner in this Action. Except as otherwise specifically indicated, I state all facts herein of my own first hand personal knowledge, and if called as a witness, I could and would competently testify thereto.
2. I am a member of the Board of Directors of Respondent INTERNET CORPORATION FOR ASSIGNED NAMES AND NUMBERS ("ICANN"). My term as an ICANN Director commenced immediately after ICANN's annual meeting in November 2000, and will continue through ICANN's annual meeting this year, presently scheduled for October 31, 2002 in Shanghai. In an open and public online election held in 2000, I was elected to be the At Large Director for the North America region, garnering more votes than the six other candidates for that seat.

3. At its two most recent public board meetings, on March 14, 2002 in Accra, Ghana and on June 28 in Bucharest, Romania, ICANN took a sequence of steps that eliminated the public seats on ICANN’s Board of Directors and dispensed with future public elections on any matter within ICANN.

4. Attached hereto as Exhibit 31 and incorporated herein by this reference is a true and correct copy of my recent testimony before the Subcommittee on Science, Technology, and Space of the U.S. Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation. In that testimony I outlined my vision for reform of ICANN.

5. I personally attended the Senate hearing and heard virtually every witness, including ICANN’s President and CEO, Stuart Lynn, attest to the need to dramatically reform ICANN. While the various plans differed widely, I was not alone in calling for increased accountability, and openness, and public participation within ICANN. Joining with me were the U.S. General Accounting Office and several others (see Request for Judicial Notice Exh. A & B). Several members of Congress have also recently written a letter to the Department of Commerce raising similar concerns. (see Request for Judicial Notice Exhibit C). The testimony of all of the witnesses is publicly available at the Senate website:

<http://commerce.senate.gov/hearings/hearings0202.htm>

6. I campaigned for and was elected to my current position as an ICANN director on the basis of my sincere belief that ICANN must change. I have no hidden agenda to “harm” ICANN; I have always had public agenda to reform ICANN so that it better serves the public interest.

7. ICANN states that the timing of the filing of this lawsuit, the business day after the ICANN Accra Board meeting when it became clear that ICANN would not be conducting another public election for Board members, is "evidence" that my goal is to "injure" ICANN. ICANN Opening Brief at page 11:7-17. ICANN is wrong to suggest that the timing had any significance. The decision to commence this action was made well before the Accra meeting, and a draft of the Petition was circulated by counsel before the votes to which ICANN refers. However, we weren't quite ready to file before the Accra meeting, so a decision was made to wait until Mr. Lynn, Mr. Touton and most of the rest of ICANN's staff and board returned from Ghana, rather than filing when we knew they were out of the country.

8. Mr. Touton and Mr. Lynn characterize my voting record as one of being the sole dissenter "on a large number of matters" and "often." (Touton Declaration ¶7, Lynn Declaration ¶33). They supported these broad allegations with information about only a single Board meeting, where the voting was significantly more complex than their statements indicate and where my interpretation of the vote tally differs from the ones they present. It is difficult at this time to derive unambiguous vote counts; the transcript of the meeting is somewhat muddy and no minutes have yet been presented to the Board for correction or approval. Although I do not believe my voting record is relevant to a decision about whether and how I should be allowed to exercise my statutory right to access ICANN corporate records, I have reviewed my voting record during the entire course of my tenure on the Board of Directors and the actual numbers are quite different from ICANN’s highly selective sample. There have been 18 board meetings so far during my tenure and I have missed only three. On the basis of all votes at all ICANN board meetings that I attended, I have voted with the majority ("yes") vote 60% of the time; against the majority ("no") 32% of the time and have abstained 8% of the time. Attached hereto as Exhibit 32 is a true and correct copy of my summary of my votes taken from my own contemporaneous records.

9. ICANN wrongly characterizes an interview I did long before I was elected to the ICANN Board (and indeed before ICANN had even decided to hold elections) as one that was done after my election. On page 20 of their Opening Brief ICANN asserts:

"In an interview with Auerbach published just after Auerbach was selected in October 2000 Auerbach stated:

ICANN is governance with a vengeance. The worst form of governance. Arbitrary, capricious, imposed without any input from those who have to pay the taxes and suffer its regulations. It is an oligarchy. It is a business-run oligarchy. It is a secret society. Do I support ICANN? I support the concept. Do I support ICANN as it is? No, I think it should be dismembered, right down to the ground.

I’m now just downright angry that [ICANN] continues to exist.

Touton Decl., Ex. 3 (cyber.law article).² The article itself indicates that it was published on February 28, 2000 (page 28), nearly nine months prior to my joining the ICANN Board. In fact, it was not until more than a week later, on March 10, 2000 at ICANN’s public meeting in Cairo that ICANN even decided to create board seats to be filled by public election and to hold such elections. It was not until some time after that that I became a candidate and it was not until November of that year that I actually was seated on the Board.

² It also appears that ICANN’s Separate Statement incorrectly indicates that the last sentence of this quote was part of a separate, later Salon article which is attached as Touton, Exhibit 4. .

10. Although ICANN refers repeatedly to their "invitations" and "requests" that I sign the "acknowledgement" of their procedures and subsequent conditions on my access to corporate records, the undisputed result of my refusal to sign has been to deny me all access to the records. As a result of ICANN's acts I have been less informed about ICANN than I could have been and that my ability to make informed decisions as a Board member has suffered.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct, and that I executed this Declaration in Santa Cruz, California on July __, 2002.
