Paul S.

To whom it may concern,

We the people, would like to have our liberties back.

As a veteran, I find it particularly upsetting, that the government of, for and by the people would think nothing of taking the very freedoms I volunteered to defend, to the death if necessary. If you think so little of the sacrifice of the brave citizens of this nation, then you have disgraced the faces of our fathers and you have no right to expect the benefits of their labors.
