IV. BACKGROUND

9. Intellectual Ventures was founded in 2000 on the fundamental premise that inventions are valuable. Since its founding, Intellectual Ventures has built on this premise by working to ensure that a market for invention continues to thrive. Intellectual Ventures creates inventions and files patent applications for those inventions, collaborates with others to develop and patent inventions, and acquires and licenses patents from individual inventors, universities, and other institutions.

10. Intellectual Ventures' business includes purchasing important inventions from individual inventors and institutions and then licensing the inventions to those who need them. Through this business, Intellectual Ventures allows inventors to reap a financial reward from their innovations, which is frequently difficult for individual inventors to do. To date, Intellectual Ventures has acquired more than 70,000 IP assets and, in the process, has paid individual inventors hundreds of millions of dollars for their inventions. Intellectual Ventures has committed over $6 billion in capital for inventions. Intellectual Ventures, in turn, has earned more than $3 billion by licensing these patents to some of the world's most innovative and successful technology companies who continue to use them to make computer equipment, software, semiconductor devices, and a host of other products.

11. Intellectual Ventures also creates inventions. Intellectual Ventures has a staff of scientists and engineers who develop ideas in a broad range of fields, including agriculture, computer hardware, life sciences, medical devices, semiconductors, and software. Intellectual Ventures has invested millions of dollars developing such ideas and files hundreds of patent applications on its inventions every year, making it one of the top patent filers in the world. Intellectual Ventures has also invested in laboratory facilities to assist with the development and testing of new ideas.

12. Intellectual Ventures also invents by collaborating with inventors and research institutions around the world. Intellectual Ventures has developed inventions by selecting a technical challenge, requesting proposals for inventions to solve the challenge from inventors and institutions, selecting the most promising ideas, rewarding the inventors and institutions for their contributions, and filing for patents on the ideas. Intellectual Ventures has invested millions of dollars in this way and has created a network of more than 4,000 inventors worldwide.

13. This case involves patents that Intellectual Ventures acquired as part of creating a market for important inventions. These important patents include: United States Patent No. 6,782,370, entitled "System And Method For Providing Recommendation Of Goods Or Services Based On Recorded Purchasing History" (the "'370 Patent"); U.S. Patent No. 6,633,900, entitled "Mobile Crew Management System For Distributing Work Order Assignments To Mobile Field Crew Units" (the "'900 Patent"); and U.S. Patent No. 5,969,324, entitled “Accounting Methods And Systems Using Transaction Information Associated With A Nonpredictable Bar Code” (the “’324 Patent”) (collectively, the “Patents-in-Suit”).

14. The ’370 Patent was duly and lawfully issued by the USPTO to original assignee Cendant Publishing, Inc. on August 24, 2004. A copy of the ’370 Patent is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

15. Plaintiff Intellectual Ventures II LLC is the owner and assignee of all rights, title, and interest in and to the ’370 Patent and holds the right to sue and recover damages for infringement thereof, including past damages.

16. The ’900 Patent was duly and lawfully issued by the USPTO to original assignee ABB Inc. on October 14, 2003. A copy of the ’900 Patent is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

17. Plaintiff Intellectual Ventures II LLC is the owner and assignee of all rights, title, and interest in and to the ’900 Patent and holds the right to sue and recover damages for infringement thereof, including past damages.

18. The ’324 Patent was duly and lawfully issued by the USPTO to original assignee Motorola, Inc. on October 19, 1999. A copy of the ’324 Patent is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

19. Plaintiff Intellectual Ventures I LLC is the owner and assignee of all rights, title, and interest in and to the ’324 Patent and holds the right to sue and recover damages for infringement thereof, including past damages.

20. FTD recognizes the importance of anticipating and responding to customer demands in the marketplace, providing a variety of purchase options (such as websites, associated mobile sites, mobile apps, and retail shops) and ensuring high quality and timely delivery of products to customers by improving the efficiency of its fulfillment and logistics operations. FTD has implemented multiple systems and methods that infringe the Patents-in-

Suit to ensure, among other reasons, these important measures are fulfilled.

21. FTD collects customer information, such as account information, sales transaction information, and purchase history, and electronically stores that information through order entry and point of sale transactions. FTD's point-of-sale system—FTD Mercury Point of Sale solution—creates certain transaction information and associates the transaction information with various types of nonpredictable bar codes. For example, the products sold are identified with and associated with product bar codes associated with a customer's account number. The nonpredictable barcode may be used to retrieve the information collected and stored by FTD.

22. Additionally, information collected by FTD enables it to personalize its customers' online shopping experience. Through the FTD MyBuys Recommendation solution, FTD is able to personalize a customer's online session based off of past and current behavior and activities of that particular customer. FTD does this, in part, by collecting and electronically storing customers' current and past shopping history as well as their current and past on-site preferences and behavior. The customer information that FTD collects and electronically stores is, along with information collected and stored about other customers, subsequently correlated with FTD's catalog of products to provide online recommendations through the FTD Mercury MyBuys Recommendation solution.

23. FTD also uses FTD Mercury Mobile to increase efficiency and add value to services and products. FTD Mercury Mobile enables a user to assign, route, locate, and track deliveries to ensure timely and efficient delivery. Delivery personnel may receive and access this and other delivery related information using a smartphone and/or other mobile devices. Mercury Mobile can be used in conjunction with the FTD Mercury Point of Sale solution. Users and delivery personnel may use FTD Mercury Mobile to update delivery information in real time.
