

How Your Firm Can Help Support EFF

The Electronic Frontier Foundation is the leading nonprofit organization defending civil liberties in the digital world. Pro Bono and Co-Counsel Work

Pro bono partnerships support EFF's work across digital right issues and expand the scope of cases we are able to bring. Litigators can help EFF take on the cases and, draft influential amicus briefs in both federal and state courts that set important legal precedent defending free speech online, fighting illegal surveillance, protecting privacy, and supporting freedom-enhancing technologies. Attorneys can also support EFF's work across other legal strategies and provide pro bono legal services to support important organizational needs. To be added to the Pro Bono Attorney list and learn more about current pro bono opportunities, send an e-mail to info@eff.org with a subject that says: "Add Me to Pro Bono Attorneys."

Financial Contributions

Donations support all of EFF's work and keep us nimble to address new, emerging, and resurgent threats. You can make an online financial contribution, set up a recurring sustaining membership, donate via a DAF, or set up a legacy gift. Learn more and make a gift.

Join the Cooperating Attorneys List

EFF receives thousands of requests for legal assistance every year, and when a case falls outside what we can take on directly, our Cooperating Attorneys list ensures those requests can still find a dedicated advocate. If you'd like to join, simply send an e-mail to info@eff.org with a subject that says: "Add Me to Cooperating Attorneys."

EFF's Reach

Working with EFF can also help your firm reach new audiences. EFF initiates several new lawsuits each year, files around 50 amicus curiae briefs a year, averages more 60 press mentions daily, has 500,000 subscribers to our EFFector Newsletter, and has over 1 million followers across social media services. Co-counseling with EFF, being publicly recognized by EFF for your firm's support, or otherwise working with EFF has the potential to reach everyone inspired by EFF's work.
