Subject: Results of Long Haul computer search
Attach: Long Haul computer search results.doc

I have created a summary of the search results I received from the lab (attached). They analyzed the six computers that were in the public internet access room. There didn't seem to be anything that could directly link a suspect with the threatening email messages that were sent. Here are the best things I could see from looking at the information:

Someone who used the computers at the Long Haul accessed websites relating to the movement against UC researchers, such as the email account for the group, "stopcalvivisection@husmail.com."

There were a couple of files that contained numerous email addresses. One file contained [Redacted]'s email address along with several other people. Another file contained an email address I believe may belong to [Redacted] along with several other people.

There were screenshots from Yahoo! email showing that someone using the address "vivisection_is_a_lic@yahoo.com" sent email to "filthpunk909@yahoo.com." There is probably not a whole lot that can be determined from this, but it could be worth being aware of.
