It came up today but I didn't have the answer: any chance of searching for steganography, etc? Thanks.

I still think that use of [Redacted] is consensual monitoring without need for process; in my mind, no different than sitting in a chat room and tracking participants' on/off times; or for that matter sitting on P2P networks and finding out who is offering KP. That said, I will try to contort my mind into a different position if you still think otherwise.

Thanks for filling me in. I surely agree that the OTD/CyD tool development issue needs to be squarely addressed by the Divisions for this and every other reason. To the extent MIOG already covers it, and the Divisions agree, all the better. The good news is that I have reason to believe that STAS is going to discuss this with OTD. If they don't please let me know.

Per MIOG, technical collections, including those conducted via the Internet, are an OTD mission area.

Look forward to STAS sending the tool to OTD for control and deployment when requested by the field. Not bad when we can expand our technical collection tool box without having to expend any OTD resources. Sounds like this particular unit of STAS, or at least the human and financial resources involved with developing technical collection products, needs to be re-assigned to OTD.

In closing and to re-iterate - this situation needs to be addressed as soon as possible.
