I would argue that USAT knows how to make money—for top management and insiders. That, in fact, is its core business. TISAT stokkirk

Fear not, MEI is doomed. USAT's portfolio of patents will ride to the rescue.

Sure they will.

Re: Rights offering

"Not a penny profit in this fugly company's sad history, yet millions have been paid in bonuses and directors' fees."

USAT: soft Ponzi?

A strong argument can be made that it's the very definition.

If it's proof you desire, ask the less-than-theoretical question, Could this company have survived as long as it has if it had been privately held? Answer: not a chance. Private equity demands performance. The doors would have closed years ago.

The NASDAQ exchanges, especially the Small and Micro, are crawling with soft Ponzi. It's a completely legal path to executive enrichment. Just add hype & a stream of investors who fall for same.

Caveat emptor.

Re: shareholder letter should end with 3-Aug-09 01:38 pm

"The top two people at USAT have skimmed over $30M from this hugely unprofitable venture. Management, with little to nothing at risk, promotes a "story" to lure investors and then the board approves massive pay packages which are in no way tied to company performance."

slvfx excuses extraordinary executive compensation/multi-year sequential losses/stock dilution. A medium-sized fortune has been transferred from shareholders of common stock to insiders.

Re: $14.7M is AMAZING!!!
4-Aug-09 08:29 pm
A hallmark of a stock scam is the position in the sky of the company's success: it's just over the horizon—eternally over the horizon.

Another hallmark of a scam is exorbitant executive compensation in the period that the company, whose success is just over the horizon (see above for time frame), is hemorrhaging shareholder money.

The NASDAQ Small and Micro Cap exchanges are lousy with scam companies that, if they were limited partnerships, would have closed their doors in short order. USAT is a failure. It always was; it always will be. Jensen is a known liar. Several years ago (my memory fails; approx 2005-06; perhaps someone can nail down the exact year), he assured investors that USAT would be profitable in the same fiscal year. The company didn't even come close. No apologies, no explanations, no nothing. Just more spin.

Caveat emptor. No limited partner would have tolerated USAT's losses q after q. At a minimum, the top executives would have been shown the door. Use your head: if it's not good enough for a limited partnership, it's not good enough for a public partnership.

Re: Michael Moore Motive

6-Aug-09 02:02 pm

MM,

Jensen's a hustler, a former stockbroker. His skills are not computer science or networking; his skill is working the publicly listed company. He took USAT public to capitalize on the internet boom that was alive and well in 2000. Wired vending machines! Can't miss! Well, they missed. Never mind; a 1-100 reverse split will keep the chump money coming in. Stock price tanking? Need cash? Warrants, that's the ticket. Sell warrants to the chumps. Sell any effing thing, just so long as we maintain the illusion that we're a viable company with a brilliant future.

For me, it's all statistics. Everything else is white noise. By now, most readers have seen the chart of USAT's performance since inception. For those that have not beheld it:

http://finance.yahoo.com/q/bc?s=USAT&t=m...

Nothing that can be expressed in words trumps the chart.

8-k's? I could paper the walls of my house with glowing 8-k's from crap stocks I've owned. Agreements in principle; patents... USAT doesn't have the money to defend against patent infringement.

SAC? Does anyone really think Steve Cohen took a look at USAT and said, This is the future? Doubt it. USAT was desperate for money. Cohen probably shorted against his own stock to insure profit.

Wellington? A drop in the bucket for them—but nevertheless, what makes me think they regretted their investment and have been writing it down by just marking to the market? There is no evidence that they're pleased with their investment, and some evidence that they're remorseful: they are not buyers.

MA? VISA? Big effing deal. They place bets on dozens of small caps every day. Sure, they're interested in wireless, coinless vending. The problem is, they have 100% of the leverage vs USAT's 0%. USAT has to give away the ranch in order to get the 8-k announcing a few thousand machines. Q: where are the 8-k's to announce that the deals didn't go anywhere? Where are the 8-k's that declare USAT's deal with Coke flamed out? I don't see those 8-k's.

Absent much more leverage on the part of USAT vs the behemoth companies in the credit and vending fields (it's inconceivable), there is no evidence that the business model will produce wealth worth talking about for average shareholders. There is ample evidence that the business model has already produced considerable wealth for USAT executives. They took, and continue to take, outsized compensation out of a failing company that, ten years after inception is still in startup mode, that has continuously hemorrhaged money, with a greediness that is a hallmark of a scam.

Penultimately, as regards sleeping at night: Jensen has no trouble.
sleeping. He's a caricature of any number of characters in Dickens or Shakespeare whose worldview is that humanity exists to be fleeced. They sleep well, that type.

Finally, watch out for slvfx. He's in the tank. His strenuous effort to discredit posters by deflecting the argument toward who posts what and why— it tells more about him than he probably wished it did.

Re: Accounting Omissions? 14-Aug-09 09:25 am

MM, you've done a thorough, factual job of debunking "death panel" stdv's rationales in favor of buying and holding USATF--his disassociation with the common stock duly noted and laughable. He'll be back with more distortions. His ox is being gored. Suckering potential investors into USAT is so small a price to pay to remedy the situation, the needle doesn't budge on his ethics-o-meter.

He learned from a master.

Re: Accounting Omissions?
14-Aug-09 11:01 am
Didn't take "death panel" slivk long.
He sees value in the patents. If that were the case, USAI would be highly profitable as a patent leasing company. It's not.
He takes the cashless vending sector very seriously. That statement is pure "death panel," nothing but unquantifiable white noise.
All an investor needs to know about USAI are in the consistent negative earnings/exhorbitant executive compensation since the company's inception. Quantifiable. Non-negotiable. Unsusceptible to "death panel" arguments.

Re USAT: "This is legalized highway robbery."

I think that the very definition of a so-called soft Ponzi, vs. a, shall we say, hard Ponzi, which is, by definition illegal. I don't recall where I got the definition. A scholar of economics. Rubini, maybe. No matter. It seems to fit.

I think we're on the same page, different paragraph.

Re: Rights offering

"Badges? We don't need no stinking badges!"

Since when is it necessary to have "legitimate reasons" to post on this or any other Yahoo stock chatroom?

What are "legitimate reasons"? Are they what you say they are?

The poster Michael Moore has said nothing that isn't in the public record for USAT. The uninterrupted negative earnings, the market share, the executive compensation: it's all a matter of public record.

A reader who has a suspicious turn of mind—not I, of course—might see the situation as you trying to intimidate Moore with the threat of a suit. That's not especially smart. The discovery process might bear some interesting fruit. For all anyone knows, you could be with USAT.

Interesting, no?

Re: Eport Connect 18-Aug-09 08:23 am

USAT is "mostly profit" for Mssrs. Jensen and Herbert, most of the work already having been done. To keep the plates spinning, they occasionally have to concoct a scheme to take in new money. But that aside... So far, so good, no?

The impartial observer wonders if and when profit will accrue to the company, and be reflected in the share price. If history is a factor-- http://finance.yahoo.com/q/bc?s=USAT&t=m...

--corporate profits don't seem to be around the corner or just over the horizon.

By golly, I think that I've inadvertently mentioned three characteristics of a soft Ponzi scheme: ousted payments in the form of executive compensation in a falling enterprise; interesting schemes to take in new money; the notion that success is just over the horizon.

Re: Eport

18-Aug-09 10:23 am

slvfx post, dated 31-Dec-2007:

"I started investing in the company through Private Placements back in the beginning of the company around 1992. The units I purchased consisted of 1000 shares of preferred stock along with a lot of common. The cost of the preferred was around $100 per share. We were given common I think at .001 a share. I can't remember the original numbers but I think the first placement we got 50,000 shares per $10,000 unit. Follow on placements were 25,000 share lots. The preferred stock has a dividend of 12% per year. A share of preferred today if the company was sold is somewhere close to $30 a share. It trades right now about 8.00 a share.

I have bought and sold common throughout the time I have been in the stock. I hold my original purchases of preferred.

I still believe that the people would prefer to pay with credit because of the problems with dollar accepters. I believe George has always positioned uat as the number 1 go to vender for cashless. I still continue to believe this."

Re: USA Technology maintains Credit card security

This coming from someone who would sell his soul for a 12% dividend.

You might want to look at yourself in a mirror and ask the question, "How do I sleep at night when I know full well that I'm trying to talk investors into buying a company that has already drained the pockets of investors north of $100 million, and shows no sign of ever making a profit?"

Re: Put some skin on the table

Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. What stopped you from shorting USAT?

Nine years of steady decline. Nine years of losses.

http://finance.yahoo.com/q/bc?s=USAT&t=m...

The money was lying in the street waiting to be picked up. A big short of USAT on your part would have buried one-hundredfold any potential profits you seek to make from your long position, the latter profits remaining completely theoretical, while the short money was real as real can be. You left the money sitting in the street. Yet you have no trouble faulting others for doing the same. I don't think you'll be winning prizes for ethics or financial acuity any time soon.

Re: Redbox
I don’t give a hoot what their business model is. You stick a credit card in the slot, a video pops out. Video, cup of coffee: makes no difference. The machines have to be stocked and re-stocked.

At the end of the day, the fact remains that Redbox did a wireless workaround USAT and stuck the patents up USAT’s ass. You try again.

Re: Why did Compass pick USAT? 24-Aug-09 05:29 pm

There is one problem, and it's insurmountable: the perfectly inverse relationship between your pitching of USAT for the myriad terrific reasons one should invest in it, and the company's performance over the same period of time. Behold:

http://finance.yahoo.com/q/bc?s=USAT&t=m...

The problem is insurmountable for the reason that, to anyone who considers himself a decent investor, your words cannot be quantified, they're just white noise, easily ignored, while the horrific performance of the company over the same period of time that you saw gold in USAT--see above chart--can be quantified down to the dollar.
